Property Description

The Hua Hin Municipality has confirmed that Songkran 2026 will be celebrated across April 12-13, with an ambitious programme themed “Hologram” that combines traditional Thai New Year ceremonies with modern festival entertainment along the town’s central Damnoen Kasem Road.
For property investors in Hua Hin, this annual celebration represents far more than a cultural milestone—it marks one of the year’s most concentrated periods of rental demand, when accommodation scarcity drives rates to their annual peak and property owners capture returns that disproportionately influence full-year yield calculations.
Understanding why Songkran creates such pronounced rental market conditions requires appreciating both the festival’s national significance and Hua Hin’s particular appeal as a celebration destination.
While Bangkok, Chiang Mai, and Pattaya attract headlines with their massive water
